To belong to the Grotto, one must be more than a Master Mason. One must be broad minded, liberal-minded and interested in his fellow-man.

It is not quite true that we have successfully entered the Lowell or Merrimack valley area for there are those among us in this area who have not, as yet given us their whole-hearted support. However, as neophytes in search of the priceless jewel, with persistency of purpose we shall continue to grow.

The subtle methods of competitors, if you will, must be challenged and constantly met, in perhaps like manner. From the first entrance of candidates upon our Masonic threshold we should point out to them, the advantages of a well-balanced Masonic edifice, that the building has a fun-loving, good fellowship side within reach of the young Master Mason.

The Grotto can, and does provide that opportunity. We should emphasize these benefits more. Upon this basis, I foresee a prosperous future for Mer-I-Mak Grotto.
